Portrait: Trained as a carpenter and interior design draughtsperson. After working for a few years, she joined the construction management team. Discovered building physics while looking for a new challenge in her day-to-day work. GEAK expert since 2019, energy advisor since 2020, project manager in the fields of energy and building physics at Gartenmann Engineering since 2019. Badminton, skiing and hiking provide the necessary change from day-to-day working life. New challenge: continuing education in youth and sports.
